Flute, Suzuki Flute and Hammered Dulcimer

Jane Hager has been on the faculty of the Jack Benny Center teaching traditional flute, Suzuki flute and hammered dulcimer since 2002.

Mrs. Hager received has a Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education with a music minor. She has had Suzuki flute sessions with Toshio Takahashi and Kenichi Ueda at University of Wisconsin/Stevens Point. She holds a certificate as a Certified Music Practitioner through the Music for Healing and Transition Program.

Jane taught elementary school for 34 years and has taught flute for over 50 years. She has taught hammered dulcimer for 4 years. Therapeutic music since 2007. She has also taught at the Zion Conservatory of Music.

Ages: Teaches students who are children, adult, new or experienced. Children ages 6 and older.

Books: Bring the current book and after evaluation, Mrs. Hager will suggest books.

Teaching Philosophy: I believe each student should enjoy what music they learn to play. Therefore, they are a big part in deciding what solos or duets they would like to learn. I believe if the student is engaged in learning something they want, practicing will happen and there will be a productive fun time had.
