Waukegan Park District Named a Finalist for the 2021 National Gold Medal Award for Excellence in Park and Recreation Management

Waukegan, Illinois (May 10, 2021) – The American Academy for Park and Recreation Administration, in partnership with the National Recreation and Park Association, announced that the Waukegan Park District is a finalist for the 2021 National Gold Medal Award for Excellence in Park and Recreation Management, the nation's highest honor for park and recreation agencies.

The Waukegan Park District is a finalist in Class III, the category for park and recreation agencies serving a population of 75,001 to 150,000. The Waukegan Park District won the prestigious award in 2013 and was named a finalist in 2012, 2013, and 2019.

Founded in 1965, the National Gold Medal Awards program honors communities in the United States that demonstrate excellence in parks and recreation through long-range planning, resource management, volunteerism, environmental stewardship, program development, professional development, and agency recognition. Applications are separated into six classes, with five classes based on population and one class for armed forces.

Jeremiah Johnson, President of the Waukegan Park District Board of Commissioners, stated, “The national recognition acknowledges the Waukegan Park District’s commitment to meet the needs of our incredible community with state-of-the-art parks and facilities and innovative programming. Thanks to the support from our community and the efforts of our staff, the Waukegan Park District is truly honored to once again be named among the best of the best park and recreation agencies in the country!”

Jay Lerner, Executive Director of the Waukegan Park District, stated, “It is a great honor for the Waukegan Park District to be named among the top four park and recreation agencies of our size in the country again. I am especially proud of our Board of Commissioners and staff for their dedication to provide our community with exceptional customer service, programs, parks, and facilities. We are grateful to have a community that continuously supports and participates in our efforts.”

Agencies are judged on their ability to address the needs of those they serve through the collective energies of community members, staff members, and elected officials. A panel of five park and recreation professionals will review and judge all application materials. Judges are chosen for their considerable experience and knowledge in parks and recreation on both the local and national levels.

The Gold Medal Award recipients will be announced during the 2021 National Recreation and Park Association Conference, which will be held in September in Nashville, Tennessee.
